

3. Organisational Self

Consider the organisation you are working within. How is the work you are doing contributing (directly or indirectly) towards it being a healthy organ of society? Are the work contributing to more than just profit?

The aim of this sheet is to discover purpose and meaning beyond the daily churn of work.

4. Direct Stakeholders

How are the work that you are doing allowing a sustainable future for the organisation and therefore also a sustainable prosperity for its direct stakeholders?

5. Earth

Are your activities benefiting the environment. Do you have carbon-neutral, waste neutral or water-neutral practices? What is the impact of technology in use, on long-term sustainability?

Remember to let the question reader lead the discussion

6. Global Commons

What are your contributions back to society? How is the IT organisation contributing to open-source or patent commons? How is the financial business contributing to open and safe business standards?

How much time have you left? Enough?

7. Society

An organisation has a responsibility towards co-architecting a healthy society. Consider how your work directly or indirectly contributes towards this vision?

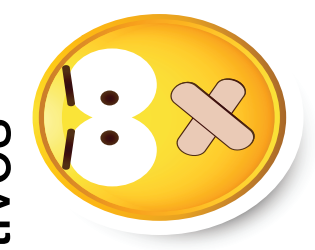

8. Democracy

An organisation's responsibility towards democracy is the protection of its own operational space. How is your work contributing to the protection of society against misgovernment? How is it helping to create a safe and lawful environment to conduct business within?

9. Politics

Consider the impact of your work (directly or indirectly) on the reasonable objectives of government.

10. Transnational crime

What is the impact of your work on reducing crime making it a safer space for society and the origination of any "threats without borders"?

11. Purpose

From the lists in #3 - #10 choose 3 things you have noticed where your work has (or will have) positive societal impact.

1. Start here

This is a dialogue sheet, it is designed to promote good conversation.

Team members should seat themselves equally around the sheet so each question can be read by at least one person easily. Take one question at a time, skip questions if you like. The person closest to the question should read out the question and take notes of the discussion. Each person should get a chance to read and note at least one question.

Make sure everyone has a pen to write on this sheet.

2. Set up

Agree how long you will spend working on this sheet and write it in this box:

If time is short then, in the box next to each question, write the number of minutes you will spend on the question.

Use this space however you like notes, ideas, comments and suggestions - you can write anywhere you like on this sheet!
